[(9)] (6) Nothing in Chapter 393 of the General Statutes shall be construed to prohibit the employment of one accessibility apprentice by a properly licensed elevator contractor and an additional accessibility apprentice for each properly licensed elevator contractor or journeyman employed by the elevator contractor.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

(A) Purpose: These regulations are mandated by Public Act 27 of the 2010 Session (Substitute Senate Bill 133). They create parity by extending the existing electrical trade apprentice hiring ratio schedule to other occupational types. Extra apprentices will be allowed to smaller companies who employ only a few journeypersons or contractors, according to the newly-modified schedule set forth in the Public Act.

(B) Summary: These regulations allow the hiring and training of more apprentices by contractors, while maintaining essential oversight of these apprentices on the worksite.

(C) Legal Effects: These regulations modify the apprentice hiring ratio for several occupational trades currently set forth in Section 20-332-15a(e), allowing additional apprenticeship opportunities.
